MUSTANG 1965

EAST HIGH SCHOOL MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE

DON GATELY — Editor • VIRGINIA BEISER — Assistant Editor

This is Ea

Looking back on the year, we are constantly reminded that East High is much more to us than the attractive building on Poplar Avenue. More important, it is the warmness of lasting friendships and memories that will always linger there. It is crowded halls, Friday night football dances, pep meetings, assemblies, homecoming, graduation; For THIS IS EAST to us.

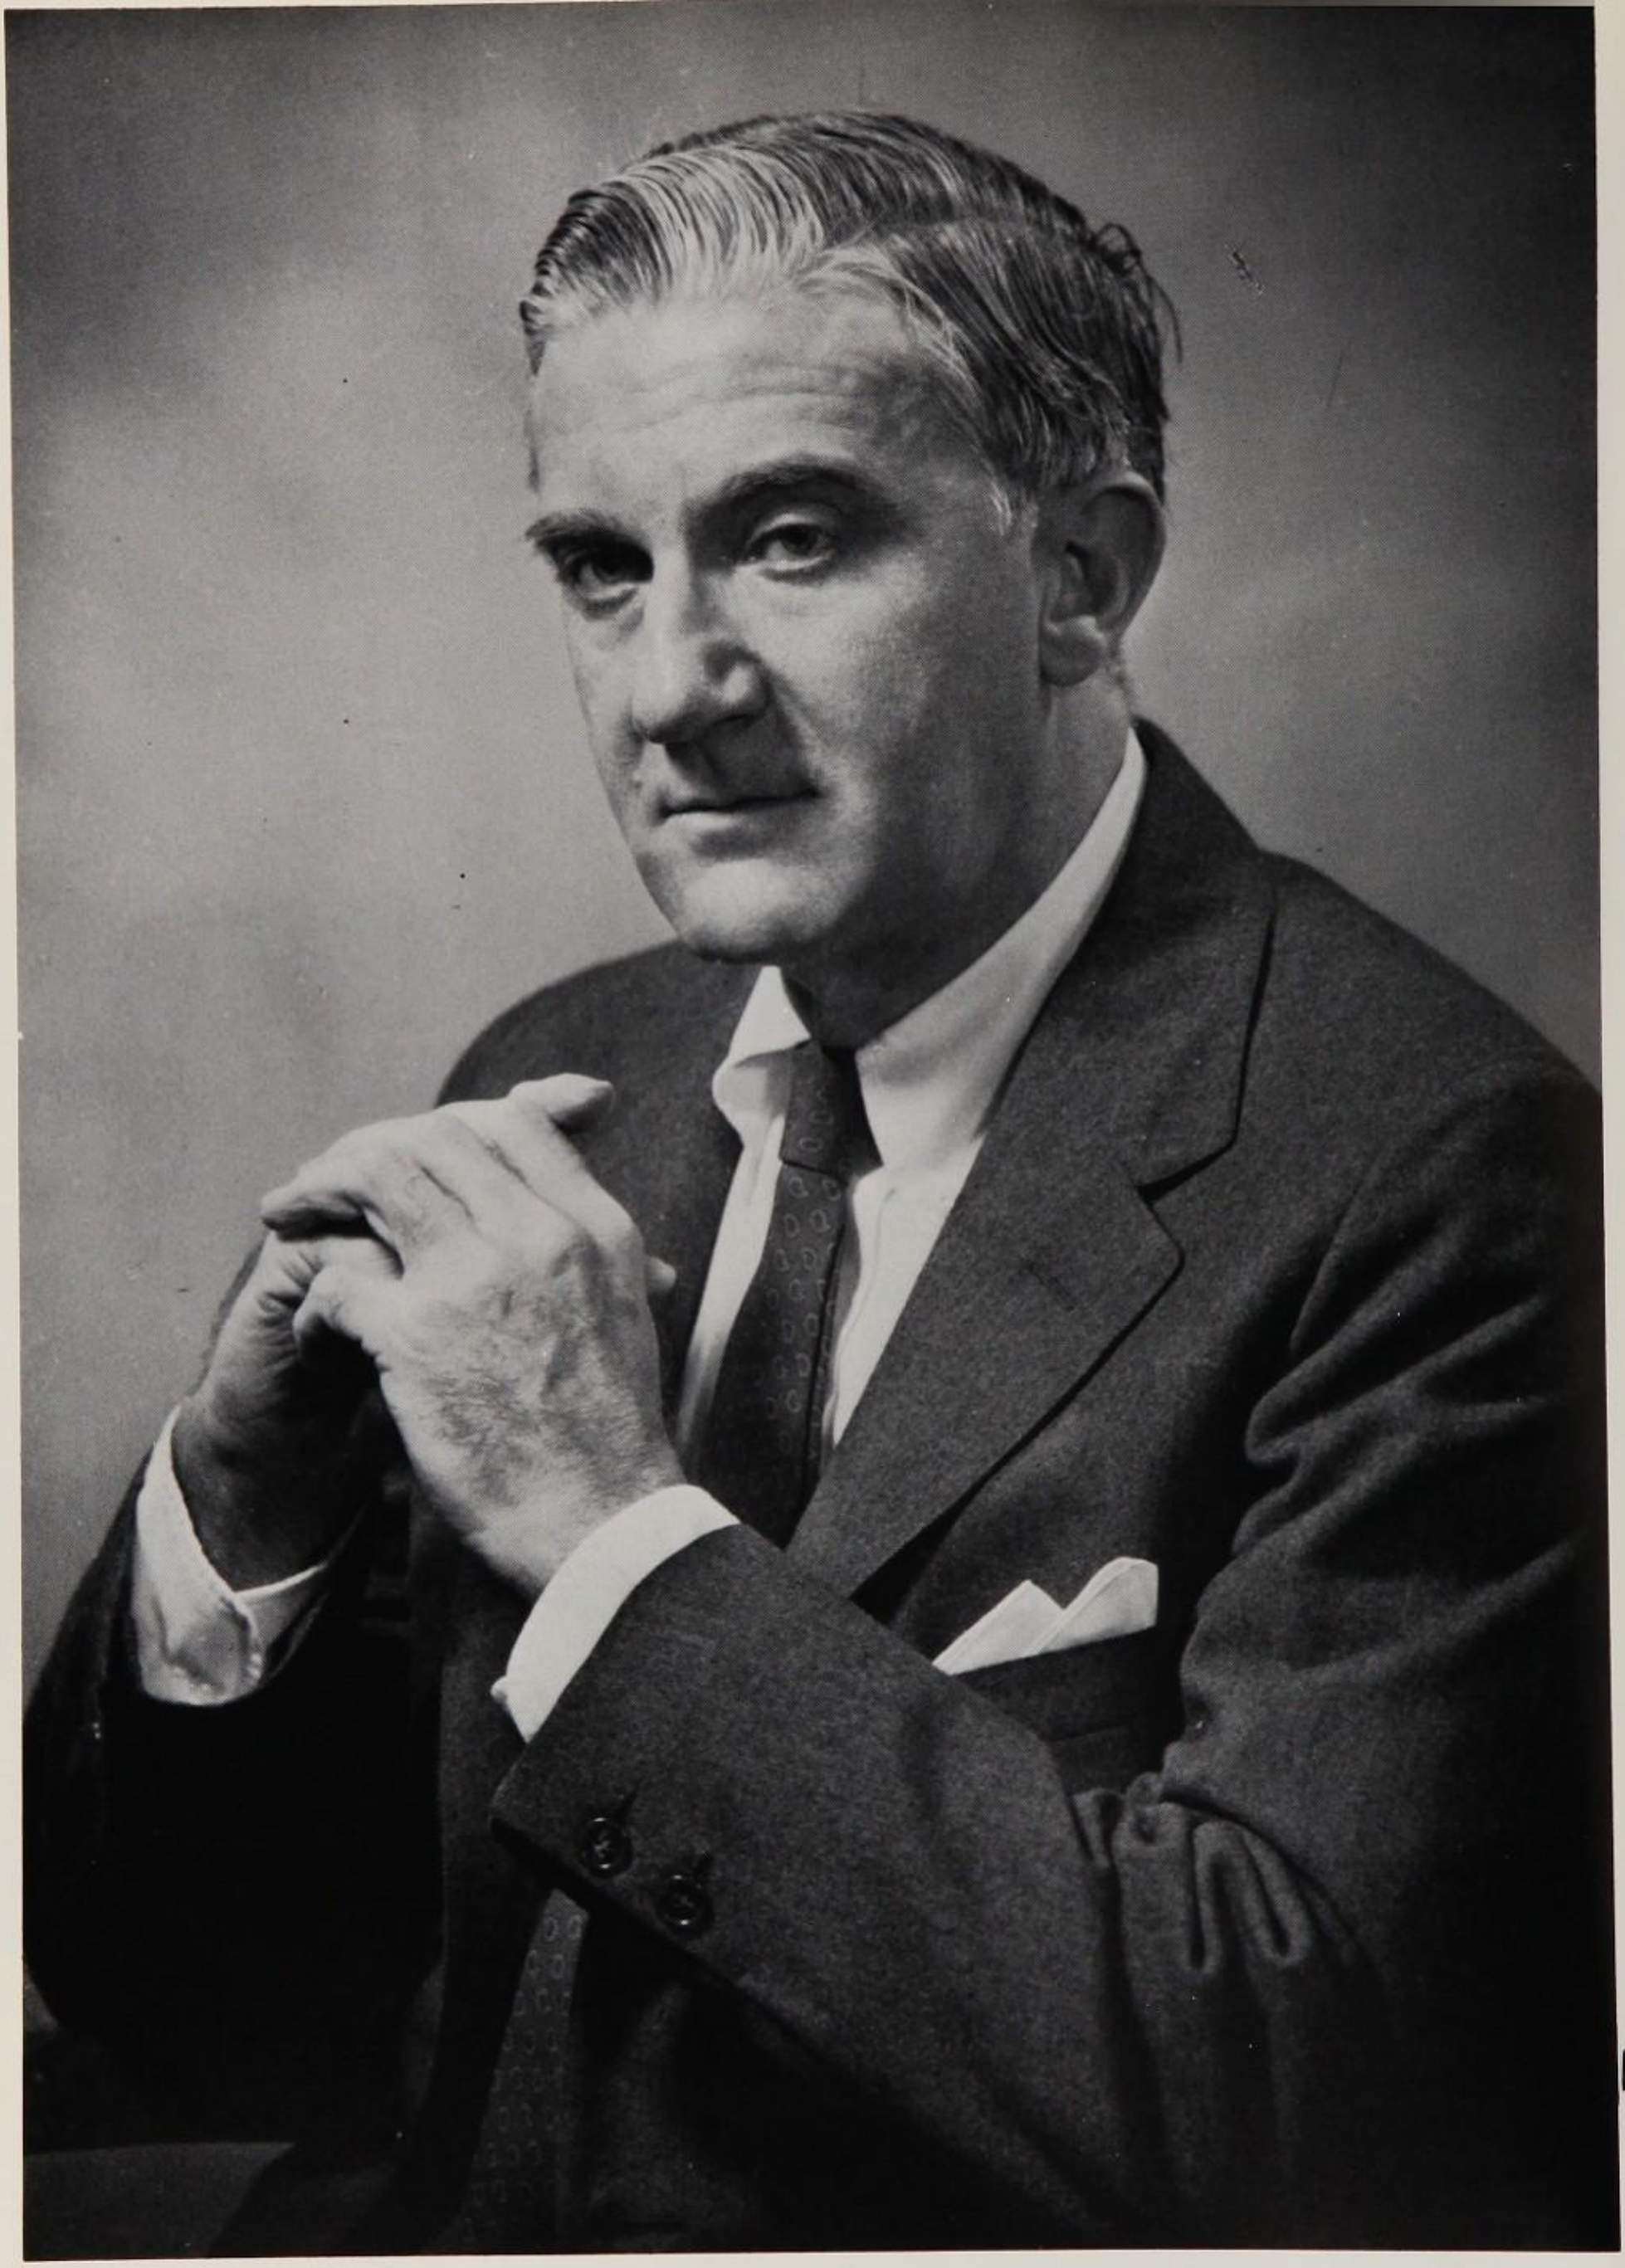
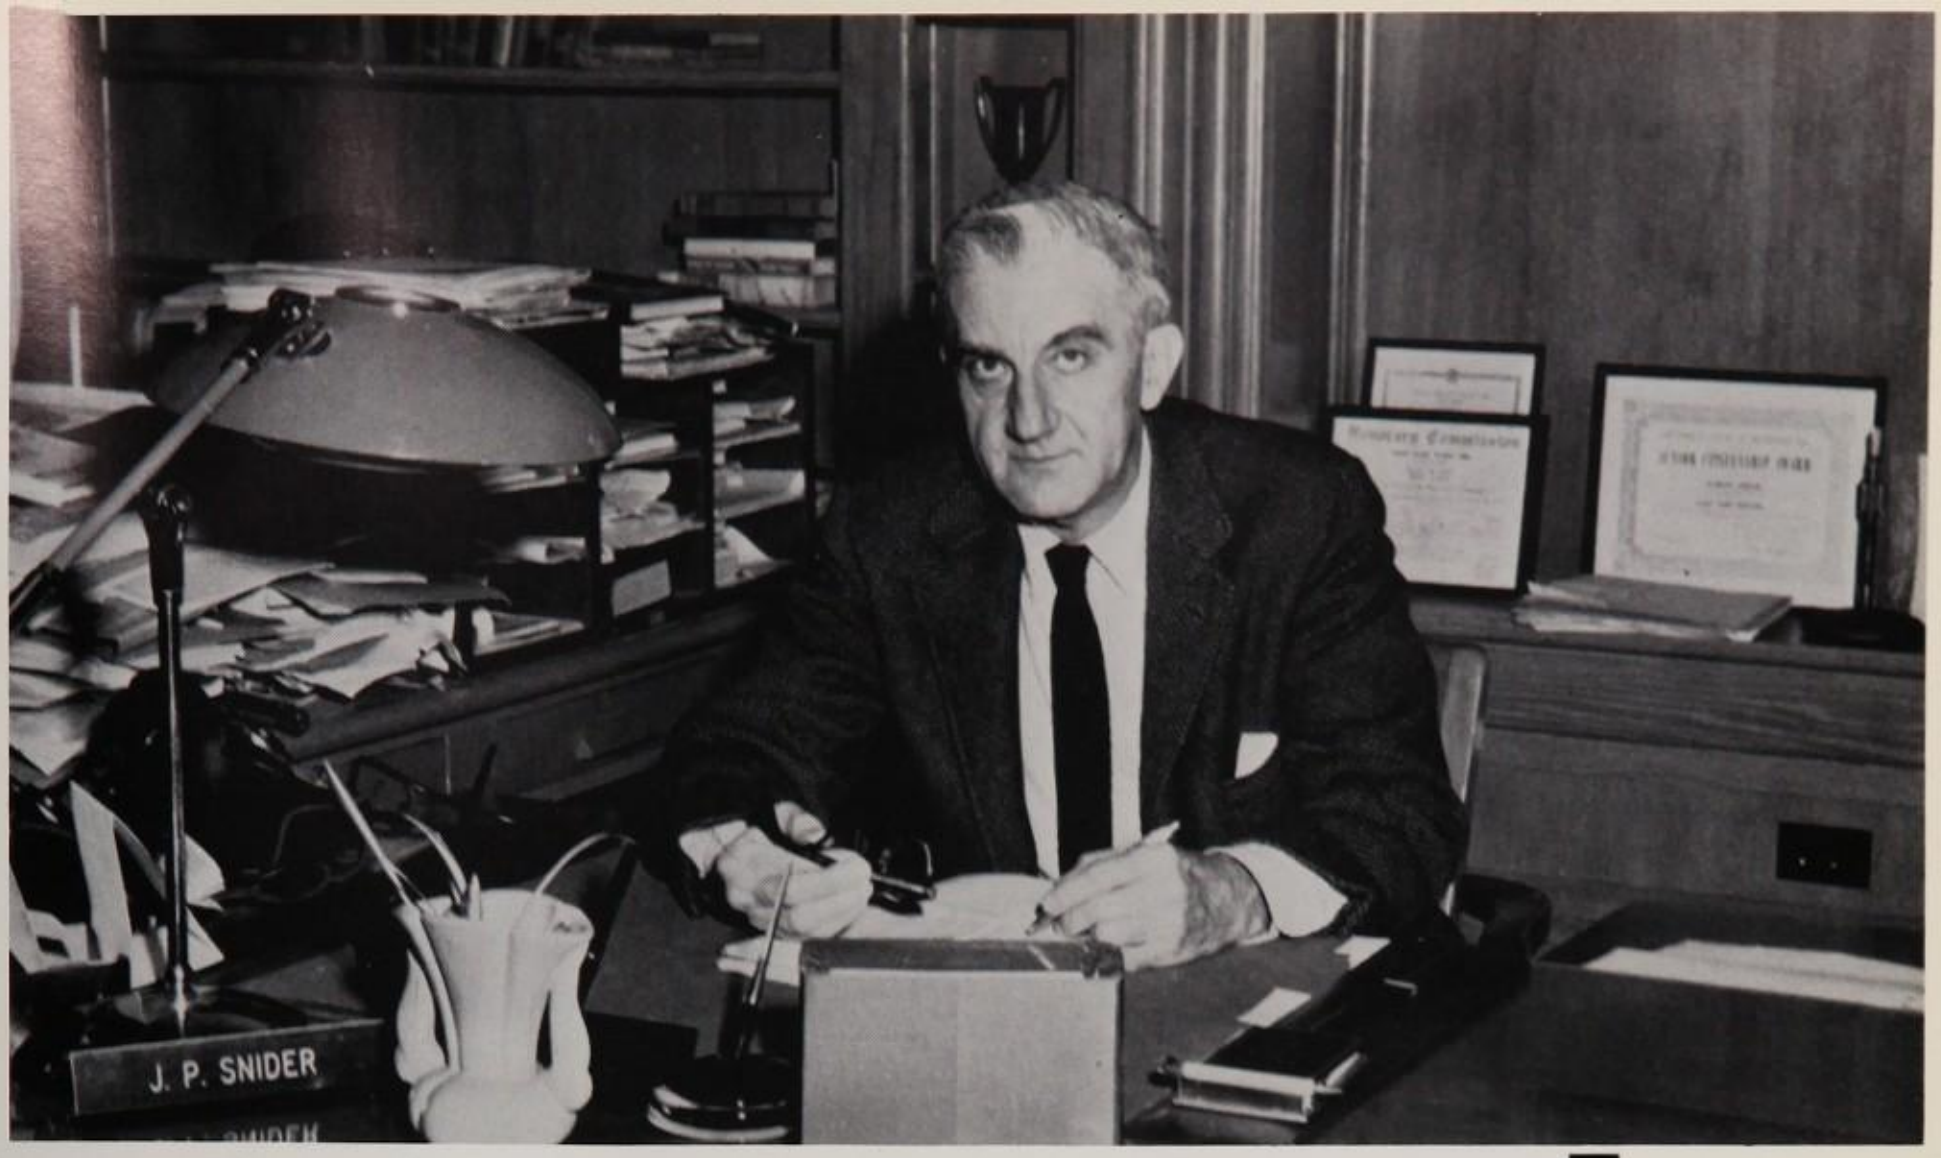
Every school year teachers and students alike establish goals and objectives they hope to reach. A look at the Class of 1965 is complete assurance that their goals far surpassed that of merely graduating. The numerous unprecedented accomplishments labeled this class as the best in the history of East High. The schedule they endured to attain this remarkable record was gruelling, challenging, demanding—yet how rewarding!!!

No year is complete without some unusual incidents to color it with uniqueness. With this in mind, we proceed to take a look at the year 1964-65 in retrospect and establish ourselves, as many classes have done before us, in the history of East High School.



Mr. Joel P. Snider



Mr. Snider as we knew him best.

DEDICATION

On July 30, 1964, a tragic highway accident near Savannah, Tennessee, took from East High one of the finest gentlemen we have ever known. It took from us not only our advisor and principal, but more important a true and trusted friend. Yes, it took from us our beloved Mr. Snider.

In his sixteen years at East Mr. Snider became a steadfast standard by which so many graduates have patterened their lives but which few have equalled and none have surpassed.

Mr. Snider's death is certainly a most tragic loss a loss to every person and every facet of life at East. As we think of him, we can truly say:

"He was a man, take him for all in all,
I shall not look upon his like again."

He mixed fun with school work.

The Education of Henry Adams

PRINCIPAL

To the Class of 1965:

Yours is the largest class and one of the best East has produced. Your accomplishments, dedication to duty and loyalty to those ideals we hold high have been observed within and outside the school. You have been a class we will remember with pleasure.

While you have made noteworthy progress in many areas in the past, do not be lulled into a complacency that will serve as a stumbling block in the future. Devote the same energy and perseverance to the tasks that lie ahead that you have to past challenges and success will be yours.

Good luck and best wishes to each and all.

STUDENT COUNCIL

"Red Party headquarters," said the voice that answered the phone. Upon hearing this the lady that had called screamed with fright and hung up the receiver! Had she stayed on a little longer she would have discovered that she had called the Red Party headquarters for the East High STUDENT COUNCIL election. Amid such confusion as campaigns always bring, the Red and Gray parties presented their candidates and platforms, and the STUDENT COUNCIL for this year was elected.

These nine students met throughout the summer, busily making plans for the coming year. When school began a beautiful memorial assembly was held in memory of East's late principal, Mr. J. P. Snider. A Junior Achievement and a Thanksgiving assembly followed. Other assemblies consisted of a panel discussion on colleges by East High alumni and a tribute to brotherhood and to George Washington.

After football games the STUDENT COUNCIL sponsored parties in the school gym with such teenage bands as The Casuals and The Radiants. To coincide with the national election, a mock presidential election was held along with a display of all the past presidents.

A STUDENT COUNCIL innovation was a newsletter put out twice a month. Each issue contained an editorial, a list of council activities, and a famous quote. Intramurals between junior and senior homerooms was another new activity.

Then with spring elections the excitement of campaigning came around again, and a fine new STUDENT COUNCIL was elected to carry on the traditions of the old.

THE MUSTANG STAFF

Under the leadership of Editor Don Gately the 1965 MUSTANG was published.

Every day sixth period one can find the MUSTANG STAFF feverishly attempting to meet its deadlines in a rather frantic atmosphere. With pictures, layouts, and grease pencils strewn everywhere, the staff works together toward their goal of producing the finest annual East has ever had.

The MUSTANG STAFF is composed of twenty-six juniors and seniors chosen on the basis of industry, scholarship, and originality. Besides working sixth period every day, one of the major tasks facing the staff members is the sale of ads. This ad campaign along with the annual subscriptions keeps the staff busy and brings the MUSTANG to you.

MUSTANG ROUNDUP

Have you ever tried to write a "beat," lay out a page, or interview Peter, Paul, and Mary through a throng of screaming teenagers? These are some of the tasks that confront the staff members as they work to publish the MUSTANG ROUNDUP.

The staffers consist of tenth through twelfth graders interested in journalism. Through untiring efforts they produce nine issues and the April Fool's Edition during a school year.

Aways striving to better the paper, the members of the MUSTANG ROUNDUP attend such clinics as the Columbia Press Association Convention in New York City and the Commercial Appeal Journalism Clinic in Memphis. Through seminars with other high school staffers and lectures by eminent men, they obtain new ideas and better techniques. As a result the MUSTANG ROUNDUP has progressed to the fine newspaper it is today.

THE APPRENTICE

Two years ago several members of the annual and the paper staff published East High's first literary magazine THE APPRENTICE. Its effect on the student body proved the importance of a student publication to stimulate interest in writing.

This year THE APPRENTICE was established as a separate staff with no connection with the other school publications. Composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, selected on the basis of their literary talents, THE APPRENTICE was a fine representation of the talents of many East High students. After the solicitation of original works throughout the year, the appearance of the finished booklet in the spring revealed many "poets whose friends didn't know it"!

QUILL & SCROLL

The staff members of the Mustang and Mustang Roundup work toward two main goals through the production of their respective literary works—service to their school and expression of themselves. Those who show excellence and quality in their work and are in the upper third of their class, are rewarded with membership in the East High chapter of the QUILL & SCROLL, a national organization. Its purpose is to stimulate interest and desire to excel in the journalistic field.

One of the main projects of the society this year was the proclamation of an East High Publication Week to acquaint the school better with the two literary staffs and their vital parts in the school. This included a display in the main foyer of all the past annuals and papers, and of the two staffs.

Much work was put into the spring induction assembly. Tom Pappas, of the Press-Scimitar, spoke to the student body, and twelve juniors and seniors were inducted into the QUILL & SCROLL.

The KEY CLUB is an honorary organization sponsored by Kiwanis International. Its constant membership of thirty boys is composed of fifteen seniors, ten juniors, and five sophomores. At the annual September induction, five boys are selected from each grade on the basis of leadership, character, and service.

Each year the KEY CLUB sponsors the publications and sale of student directories. Various other activities also kept the boys busy this year. KEY CLUB members had their hands full supporting DeAnn Roberts in the Queen of Hearts Contest, collecting for the Salvation Army, and planning the recreation for the National KEY CLUB Convention held in Memphis. Other projects were sending Christmas cards to the faculty and planning a teachers' appreciation day. This year the KEY CLUB truly fulfilled its purpose—service to school, community, and fellow man.

The E-CLUB is an honorary athletic organization made up of fifty-five boys who have lettered in either football, basketball, baseball, track, swimming, or golf. A boy qualifies for the E-CLUB not only through his excellent athletic achievements, but also through his outstanding spirit as made manifest by the acquiring of a letter.

The major activity of the E-CLUB is working behind the concession stands at both junior and senior high sports contests. With the profits from these activities the E-CLUB is able to award presents to the graduating senior athletes and supplement the fund which provides money for equipment and uniforms.

HONOR SOCIETY

The new inductee trembled with mingled excitement and disbelief as he attempted to light his candle with those four representing the necessary qualifications for membership: Leadership, Scholarship, Character, and Service. With this fall induction twenty-five students were honored for their outstanding accomplishments in these four areas.

Soon after their induction, the new members entertained the whole HONOR SOCIETY with a luau. Later that month the members tried for a national distinction by taking the PSAT. The high scores of Lee Strauch and Annette Davidson made them finalists for the National Honor Society Scholarship.

Always trying to promote good scholarship, the HONOR SOCIETY enacted a tutoring system. Members volunteered their study hall time to help students who had trouble in their subjects.

One of the main projects of the HONOR SOCIETY at East is the presentation of a scholarship to an East High student. This year the members earned a significant amount by selling candy and valentines.

With spring came induction time again and twelve juniors were singled out for their hard work. Dr. Walter Smith, Dean of Arts and Sciences at Memphis State University, spoke to the assembly on "Excellence in Scholarship". Then with the dinner that the new inductees presented for the old members, the HONOR SOCIETY year came to a close.

In this age of space and discovery science and math are potential subjects. Students interested in these fields may belong to the SCIENCE or MATH CLUB, whose purposes are to further information and go into detail about things not covered in the classroom.

This year, for the first time, there were two math clubs, a junior and a senior. Different speakers, including students, participated in presenting the programs.

Besides its regular meetings the SCIENCE CLUB divided into two groups to construct a closed environment and study the effects of radiation on living tissues.

Who knows, maybe someday a member of these clubs might find a cure for cancer or develop a new theorem.

FRENCH CLUB

To encourage interest in the language and customs of France, LE CIRCLE FRANCAIS met on the third Thursday of each month. Made up of second and third year students, the club succeeded in bringing the French culture to East High.

Some of its many programs included East High students who had been to Europe. Walter Chapin, Virginia Beiser, and Patsy Knous gave interesting enlightenments on their trips.

Other speakers also presented effective programs. The French exchange student at Memphis State, Monsieur Patrice du Monbaison-Fouchire, gave an insight into French life. Mrs. Heatherly delivered synopses of two plays presented by Le Trete au de Paris, a group from the Comedie Francaise in Paris.

SPANISH CLUB

The SPANISH CLUB, sponsored by Mrs. Goldfarb and Mrs. Cantrell, did much to encourage study of the Spanish language this past year. Second and third year students composed the club, meeting on the fourth Thursday of every month.

Among the many activities was a Christmas party with the traditional Spanish pinãta. The club also participated in the Christmas program by singing Spanish carols. East High students were taught to eat Spanish dishes at the many club dinners.

Some of the speakers that visited the SPANISH CLUB included D. Kneipp, who spoke on the living conditions of Mexico, and Mrs. Guma, who spoke on the Cuban problem.

This year the PEP CLUB has been under the leadership of V-Pres. Keith Smith, Treas. Mary Ann Bundy, Pres. Shirley Scott, Sec. Stephanie Turnbull, Dec. Chairman Alma Halski, Sgt.-at-Arms Ralph Brower.

"Victory Tonight—Fight!" read the sign as loyal PEP CLUB members taped it up in the main hall. Crepe paper was being hung in graceful patterns by other spirited students. Busy hands dripped RED and GRAY paint as "We're the East High Mustangs" formed on a long sheet of butcher paper for the game that night. Tension mounted as three brave souls teetered on a rickety ladder attempting to decorate the goal posts. Then as each game came, the work to create spirit was paid off by crowds of supporters, urging on the team with their cheers for victory.

For funds the PEP CLUB ran the concession stand at all the football dances and during basketball season it was responsible for the coat check stand at home games.

Like the tape from decorating, that probably won't ever come off the walls, the spirit instilled in the East High students by the PEP CLUB cannot be erased and lives on.

-TEENS

Two organizations quite active around East High are the JR. and SR. Y-TEENS. Sponsored by the Y.W.C.A., they work closely with other Y-TEEN groups in the city. In the Inter-Club Council meetings held monthly, the clubs planned and regulated the city-wide activities. Both JR. and SR. Y-TEENS participated in the January Play-Day Conference and the Y-TEENS sports league. In the summer, officers had the opportunity to attend a leadership training conference at Camp Miramichee for six days.

Although the JR. and SR. Y-TEENS are affiliated with the same organization, each is a separate group with its individual activities.

To raise funds the JR. Y-TEENS engaged in a potato chip sale. For a service project they collected old eye glass frames to give to those who could not afford new ones.

The SR. Y-TEENS heard many speakers to coincide with their theme for the year, "Careers." Their major service project consisted of adopting a needy family.

Getting ready for their annual potato chip sale are officers: pres. Becky Wheat, v. pres. Carole Hines, sec. Mickey Baker, and treas. Susan Bengel.

Counting the bookstore money is a daily chore for Copeland Williams and director Mr. McKnight.

East High could not possibly get along without its many volunteer workers who serve the school in a variety of capacities.

By giving up a study hall, a student interested in books can further his knowledge of the library by assisting Mrs. Krause in her duties. Or else he could volunteer for office work—experience which is needed in future secretarial jobs. Selling techniques are learned in the bookstore before school and during lunch. Service to others is also practiced by the Red Cross representatives.

To you, volunteer workers, we owe a debt of gratitude.

EAST HIGH BAND

Under the direction of the new band director Mr. Morton, the band worked hard, and this work rewarded EAST HIGH with many musical programs and honors.

Our school was well represented in band competition throughout the state and especially in the West Tennessee Solo-Ensemble Contest, where the members collected thirteen first and twenty-six second places.

Early in the year, the band chose the following officers who ably assisted Mr. Morton: President Mike Wilons, Vice President Jack Gately, First Secretary Virginia Rabb, Second Secretary Beverly Fuller, Treasurer Richard Williams, Librarian Ernie Wright, Quarter Master Joe Boswell, Drum Major Bill Vance, Student Conductor Ted Skinner.

With the hard work and co-operation of each person, the band's year was completely successful. It seems as if they never stopped producing results. Having played at every football game, in the Armistice Day parade, and in Federal Inspection the band continued to play on. The public was entertained when the band played at a reception for the Vice-Presidential candidate Hubert Humphreys in October, the tri-state Key Club convention in April, and graduation in May.

A vital part of the band's success was the seven majorettes, whose consistent work awarded them a 2nd place in the Mid-South Fair contest and a first place in a N.B.T.A. contest.

This year the EAST HIGH BAND was truly an active and vital part of the school.

Adding sparkle to the EAST HIGH BAND are majorettes: Diane Altick, Lindsay Douglass, Ronna Wilons, Linda Sykes, Carol Greer, Barbara Burson, and Linda Wilkinson.

The band marches proudly in the Veteran's Day Parade.

Band members line up for a football half-time show.

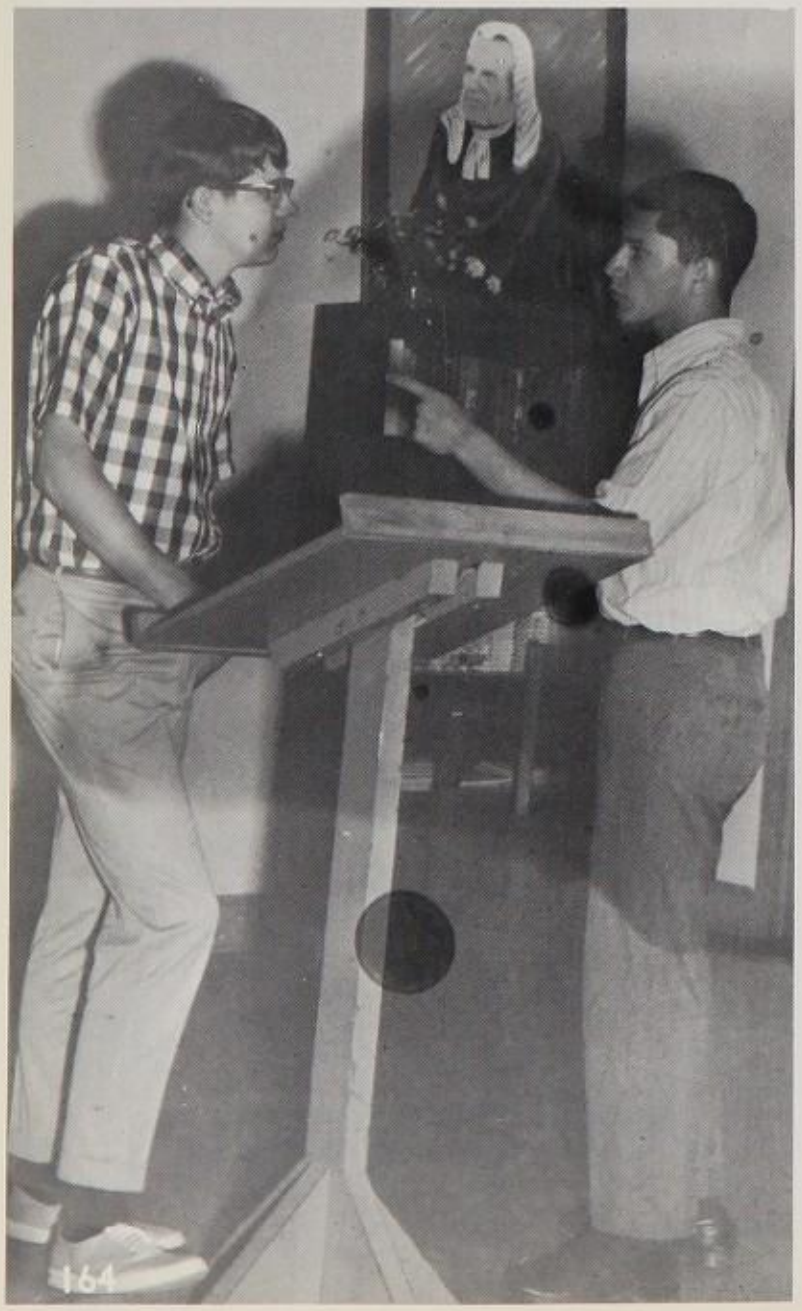
DEBATE TEAM

"Resolved that nuclear weapons should be controlled by an international organization" would be a rather difficult topic on which to converse, wouldn't it? But this was the theme of high school debaters throughout the nation. The members of East High's DEBATE TEAM delved into books and other resources to bring themselves up to date on this critical topic. Their hard work was not in vain, for the team won many honors in contests with schools throughout the city.

Disagreement is evident between Walter Chapin and Sid Lerner.



Jud and Mark wait their turn as Frank and Steve debate on the topic at hand.

THESPIAN CLUB members tape their voices as they act out their parts.

THESPIANS

The THESPIANS is a national group, organized to promote the arts. Upon receiving ten points one can be a member. These points can be obtained by being in a theatrical production either as an actor or a backstage worker, or by attending a professional play.

East High students that had achieved the number of points needed were inducted into the East High THESPIANS around Christmas. The members gathered regularly and learned the fundamentals of the theater world.

Deciding on a play are THESPIAN officers: Sec. Becky Deaton, V. Pres. Norman Winkler, Pres. Eva Duck, Treas. Leslie Simon.

The 1964 Mustangs started the season rather slowly, after a few hard fought losses to such powers as CBHS and Messick. The Mustangs broke a string of losses spanning three seasons with a 27-13 Homecoming victory over Trezevant. This victory sparked the squad into almost winning some of their remaining games. The team was a well-rounded squad, but, plagued by injuries and bad luck, it just didn't meet pre-season expectations.

The 1964 Ponies had a rather unsuccessful season. The main handicap of the team was inexperience. Only one letterman returned from last year's squad. The strong point of the team was the defense, which held some formidable opponents to few tallies. Sparking the defense were tackle David Harsh and linebacker George Nash, who was also a standout as offensive fullback. The offense, which was usually not quite strong enough, was led by quarterback Harry Phillips and halfback Pat Copeland.

1964-1965 brought many hectic hours along with fun and feelings of accomplishment to this year's annual staff. The combined efforts and talents of the members have produced the '65 Mustang for the enjoyment of each student.

We, the members of the Mustang staff, hope we have accomplished our purpose—that you will enjoy this yearbook and that in future years it will bring back the many treasured memories of our high school days.
